KUDOS

Thank you to Priscilla Thomas and her first graders for your amazing writing project to the Soledad Police Department. Kudos to Eugene Mosqueda for your initiative in creating a contest so that our students can name our new Panther Mascot. Thank you to Jaime Ceja and Maria Barrera for helping to set up for the Folklorico Performance. Kudos to Helen Esparza, and Veronica Saccone for attending the Report Card Committee Meeting. Kudos to Angie Amador and Estella Serrano for finding ways to improve the flow of traffic in the office and students who are tardy. Thank you to Joe Domingues and Aurora Ortega for helping me distribute books. Kudos to Ernesto Felix for hosting the staff meeting-your room looks great! Thank you to our Data Queen Maya Holland for her informative presentation on CELDT and NWEA. Kudos to Dr. Bailey and Alyssa Gonzales for discussing and sharing their lesson plans with the staff.

CHECKING FOR UNDERSTANDING

Check out the link below on some great tips on Checking for Understanding.

Checking for Understanding

Looks Like	Sounds Like
Eye contact	Explain that to me please.
Leaning forward	Can you show me?
Interested expression	How do you get that answer?
Open gestures and posture.	Give me an example please.

"Teachers use formative assessment to inform instructional methods... at the very least, teachers should check for understanding every 15 minutes."

HIGHLIGHTS

In the Spotlight

Congratulations to Priscilla Thomas and her First Grade Students. Her students wrote thank you notes on the anniversary of 9-11 and referred to the officers as “Super Hero’s.” Chief Sills, Officer McArthur, Officer Rivas, SRO Olguin, and Detective Enriquez paid them a visit. Students received pencils, erasers and stickers. The students were extremely excited and proud.

Thank you to Lori Thompson, Business Development Director of Pinnacle Healthcare, for donating shoes and socks to our San Vicente students. We appreciate your generosity.
