KUDOS

Thank you to ALL staff for a productive parent conference week-we appreciate all of your hard work and extra time that you all put in. Kudos to Aurora Ortega, Olga Mares, Krystal Aguilera and Eugene Mosqueda for all your help with the Scholastic Book Fair. We had a great turnout! Special thanks to Maya Holland for helping with the SBAC practice roll out. Thank you to everyone that translated for our teachers during conference week. Thank you to the Sunshine Committee for organizing Treat Day.

COMMON CORE

Why use manipulatives?

Research indicates that lessons using manipulatives are more likely to help children achieve mathematically than lessons without manipulatives (Sowell 1989). This is because students often struggle to relate to concepts and make sense of abstract ideas without some type of first-hand experiences with them. Manipulative use gives students hands on experiences and support learning by creating physical models that become mental modes for concepts and processes (Kennedy, Tipps, and Johnson 2008). So grab those manipulatives and let the fun begin.

HIGHLIGHTS

Our annual Scholastic Book Fair was a success. Thank you to all the students and staff who purchased books and school supplies. All proceeds go directly back into our school.

During our Parent University, Maya Holland showed our parents how to access the school website as well as how to locate important information and events. Maya even set up some parents with an e-mail.
